HELEN COHEN, PLA, LEED AP, ASLA

Senior Landscape Architect

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

Since joining Urban Design Kilday Studios in 2005, Ms. Cohen has worked as a project manager in the Landscape Architecture / Site Planning Division. Her site planning and landscape design experience includes a wide range of commercial, residential and institutional projects and has included several public facilities for Palm Beach County including a library and several fire stations, in addition to the conceptual site planning of subsidiary development areas at several Department of Airports properties.

Her institutional work has focused on hospitals and medical office building developments such as Lakeside Medical Center, Bethesda West Hospital, and Bethesda Memorial Hospital Heart Center addition, for which she also provided landscape design and construction administration services. A more recent institutional project includes the site planning and landscape design for the E.J. Healey Center, a skilled nursing facility with two healing gardens.

Other recent projects have included site planning, landscape architecture and landscape design work on Oxbridge Academy, a private high school the main campus of which is located in Palm Beach County with adjacent sports field facilities located in the City of West Palm Beach. Ms. Cohen also recently completed initial site planning services for the Slomin Family Center, a private daycare and secondary school for autistic children and adults located at the site of a former botanical garden. Recent commercial projects have included small infill to large retail redevelopment, such as The Garden Shops of Boca. Recent residential experience includes the Osprey Oaks and Aspen Square projects for which site planning, landscape architecture and landscape design services are in process.

Ms. Cohen strives to provide extensive coordination of project team consultants and public agencies in order to meet changing and timely client needs throughout the site planning, design and construction development phases.
